

courier-journal.com > Business

Sunday, September 2, 2007

At the Water Cooler

Schnatter can put Calistoga in stadium

Louisville pizza mogul John Schnatter may have a new test kitchen inside the University of Louisville's expanded football stadium.

Schnatter, the founder of Papa John's International, announced this week that he and his wife Annette will give $6 million toward the stadium upgrade.

Among items that Schnatter will receive in exchange: two concession stands inside the facility for Calistoga Bakery Cafe, a fast-casual concept based in Florida in which he is an investor.